Software Developer Java (m/f/d)

We as qualitype GmbH have been developing software since 2001. Our everyday life resembles a CSI sequence: offender search, solving crimes and create DNA profiles. Ok, we do not do that, but our customers like police departments, legal medical institutes and DNA labs. Our software solutions are used daily and worldwide. In order to grow further, we are looking for a software developer Java (m/f/d) as soon as possible.

As a new team member in software development, you are responsible for the conception, development and adaptation of our software products. You should also have a few years of experience and know what a very good Java software developer (m/f/d) should bring along.

We expect dedication and commitment to ourselves and our international customers. We offer a permanent position in our team, modern technology and development methods as well as customer contact. Our working hours can be flexibly designed.

Please tell us in a meaningful application what we can expect from you as a software developer (m/f/d) and send it to jobs@qualitype.de.

You can find your new colleagues here: www.qualitype.de/en/company/team/.
